

AEW Double or Nothing Preview and Oleksandr Usyk Update

Description

Bryan and I will return tonight to discuss the Double or Nothing event and the latest news. We talked about Saturday Night's Main Event, AAA, ratings, and more last night.

Double or Nothing will take place at Louis Armstrong Stadium in New York at 7 p.m. The show is expected to last over five hours and will feature exciting matches and surprises. It sold out with 14,028 tickets, making it the second biggest gate (amount of money earned) in American pro wrestling history, earning about $1.5 million. The price for tickets on the secondary market reached $160, showing strong interest in this AEW event.

In the pre-show, matches will include Megan Bayne and Lena Kross against Zayda Steel and Viva Van. There will also be a unique match with many wrestlers, featuring Mick Foley in a hosting role.

Key matches in the main event include Athena versus Mina Shirakawa, and Jon Moxley taking on Kyle O'Reilly. A significant match is Darby Allin against MJF, where the AEW title and MJF's hair are at stake.

Fans are encouraged to share their thoughts on Double or Nothing after the show.
