

Alexis Mac Allister: I view my World Cup medal daily and plan to create my own museum

Description

Liverpool footballer, Alexis Mac Allister, looks at his World Cup winners' medal daily. The medal is a constant reminder of his greatest accomplishment. The midfielder says he cherishes the idea of creating a personal museum at home. It would have his World Cup replica and other trophies. Alexis hopes to add to this collection after the Carabao Cup against Chelsea.

His experience winning the World Cup with Lionel Messi has made him more confident. Knowing that he has played in one of the biggest games in the world lets him believe that this is only the start. Despite being only 25, he is eager to win more trophies. His advice to his teammates who will be playing their first final is to enjoy their football and do the same thing they do every day.

Football is a tradition in Alexis's family. All his brothers and his dad, Carlos have played football professionally. However, his father could not be present at Wembley. His place will be taken by Alexis's mum, Silvina. He hopes it will be a special day for her too.

Since joining Liverpool from Brighton and Hove Albion for £35 million, Mac Allister has fit in perfectly. He's well known at the training centre for his South American mate drink. His determination and versatility have made him a crucial team member. He hopes to stay at Liverpool for many years.
