

Brady Bunch House Tour: Costs Revealed

Description

Fans of the classic television series "The Brady Bunch" can now tour the newly renovated house in Los Angeles. However, the experience comes with a high price, with tickets starting at $289.75 per person, including fees.

The house, famous for its role in the ABC sitcom that aired from 1969 to 1974, has been remodelled to reflect the iconic interiors viewers saw on screen. This renovation was made possible by HGTV's show "A Very Brady Renovation." The tours, which run from May 11 to July 17, offer a one-hour semi-private visit. Guests will gain access to rooms such as the living room, kitchen, and children's bedrooms, all designed with retro décor.

The success of this renovation has brought significant attention, attracting fans eager to experience the nostalgia associated with the series. A portion of the ticket sales will benefit Wags & Walks, a dog rescue organisation in Los Angeles.

The original "Brady Bunch" house remains a real property, located in Studio City, California. While its exterior featured prominently in the series, interior scenes were filmed on a soundstage at Paramount Studios. In 2018, HGTV purchased and renovated the house to match the show's aesthetic. The extensive renovations included adding 2,000 square feet and recreating beloved elements such as the floating staircase.

Looking ahead, the experience is sure to draw many visitors, but potential attendees will need to consider the ticket costs before deciding.
