

Cancelled Apple TV Show May Be Revived After Spinoff Success

Description

Apple TV's musical comedy Schmigadoon! has gained a strong fanbase but was cancelled after two seasons. However, a new Broadway version has been very popular and received many nominations for the Tony Awards, which are prestigious awards for theatre. This success could mean good news for a possible third season of Schmigadoon! on Apple TV.

Today, the Tony Awards announced the nominees. Schmigadoon! earned 12 nominations, including Best Musical, making it the most nominated new musical this year. This shows the show's success even after the Apple TV series ended.

Cinco Paul, the creator of both the Apple TV show and the Broadway version, has said that a third season has already been written, including 25 new songs. Although Apple cancelled the show in 2024, he hinted that there might be hope for a revival in the future.

If Schmigadoon! continues to do well on Broadway and wins awards, Apple may decide to bring the series back. Fans are hopeful for more episodes, as many would love to see a new season of Schmigadoon! one day.
