

Daily Love Horoscope for 26 February 2026

Description

Today, Mercury begins its retrograde in Pisces, affecting many people's love lives. Mercury retrograde often leads to confusion and miscommunication, but this time, it could help you clarify your feelings and future goals.

During this phase, you can reflect on your past experiences and gain confidence for what lies ahead. It's important to focus on what you desire for the future instead of dwelling on past relationship issues. Now is not a good time to end relationships or start new ones. Use this period to understand your emotions and decide on your next steps.

For Aries, this retrograde is a chance to learn about your past. You may feel uncertain, but it is a necessary process. Taurus should avoid rushing into decisions during this time and instead recognize the people who truly matter in their lives. Gemini is encouraged to focus on personal goals and the impact of relationships on their life path.

Cancer may find old romantic opportunities returning, while Leo has the chance to reconnect with their true self and evaluate their relationships. Virgos should be careful as past relationships may resurface, offering either closure or a new beginning. As this retrograde continues, all signs can benefit from reflection and patience, while avoiding major decisions until it ends.
