

Devin Booker Concerned as Hooters Faces Bankruptcy

Description

Devin Booker likes Hooters and hopes it doesn't close. The restaurant may go bankrupt, but it's not definite. Booker shared his love for Hooters on X after a basketball game. He scored many points in the game. Booker has always been a fan of Hooters, even before playing for the Suns. Influencer Paige Spiranac also supports Hooters. The restaurant closed some locations last year to reduce debt. Hooters is trying to adapt to changes in the restaurant business. Booker is focused on his team's performance in the NBA. The Suns are currently 11th in the Western Conference. If the season ended now, they wouldn't make it to the Play-In games. Booker's message to save Hooters has been well-received by fans. Let's hope Hooters can continue serving its famous food to customers.
