Description

King Charles hosted a garden party with senior royals as Prince Harry missed the reunion. The Duke and Duchess of Sussex were warmly received by fans in Nigeria upon their arrival in Lagos. The couple interacted with fans, schoolchildren, and teachers as they embarked on a three-day tour.

Following Prince Harry's return to the UK to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the Invictus Games, King Charles hosted a garden party at Buckingham Palace. Meanwhile, Prince William shared that his wife, Kate, is doing well after her cancer diagnosis while visiting the Isles of Scilly.

In Nigeria, Harry and Meghan are promoting the Invictus Games in Africa, visiting a school, meeting injured service members, and attending sporting events before an evening gala. The couple's visit marks their first international trip since stepping down as working royals.

The divide between Harry and the Windsors was evident as none of his immediate family attended the Invictus Games celebration, with members of Princess Diana's family showing their support instead.
