

From humble Indonesian coffee stall to annual revenue of $100 million

Description

From a local Indonesian coffee stall in 2017 to an international coffee brand worth over $1 billion, Kopi Kenangan has made waves in the coffee industry. With more than 800 locations across Southeast Asia, the company generated over $100 million in sales in 2023, marking a remarkable success story.

Edward Tirtanata, the founder, transitioned from being a student studying finance and accounting in the U.S. to an entrepreneur with a knack for business. Inspired by his parents, who were also entrepreneurs, Tirtanata ventured into the world of business at a young age.

Before founding Kopi Kenangan, Tirtanata opened a tea shop chain in Indonesia but realized the need for affordable coffee options in the market. This led to the birth of Kopi Kenangan in 2017, focusing on quality ingredients and a grab-and-go model that proved to be successful.

Despite a saturated coffee market, Kopi Kenangan stood out with its tech-enabled, hyperlocal approach, tailoring its offerings to suit different markets. With a data-driven strategy and a focus on integrating technology, the company thrived even during the pandemic, tripling its store count.

Currently operating in Indonesia, Malaysia, and Singapore, Tirtanata has global ambitions for Kopi Kenangan, aiming to list the business in the U.S. His journey from a local stall to an international brand showcases the potential for growth and innovation in the business world.
