NTE Anime Open World to Showcase 4K 60fps on PS5 Pro

Description

The new game NTE: Neverness to Everness will be available for PS5 Pro. It will have clear graphics and run at 60 frames per second.

This information comes from the PlayStation Blog. The game will use the PS5 Pro's powerful features. This will make the graphics better. Players will see special effects like fog and improved shadows.

The beta version of the game was very enjoyable. Players liked how smooth everything was. It is much better than a previous game called Tower of Fantasy.

The game will also use the DualSense controller well. Players will feel different actions through vibrations. They will notice how hard they press the buttons when driving. The controller will also have special lights for some characters.

NTE will have more features when it launches on 29th April. A livestream this weekend announced a new collaboration related to another game. Players can look forward to many new things when the game is released.
