

OnePlus 13 Launches; Pre-Order 13R and Discover Red Magic 10 Pro!

Description

The OnePlus 13 made its global debut earlier this week, coinciding with the announcement of the more budget-friendly 13R. While the flagship model comes with a slightly higher price tag this time, the enticing 16/512GB variant is currently being offered at a $100 discount, effectively matching the price of last year's OnePlus 12. Additionally, there is a more affordable 12/256GB option available, although it is not accompanied by a discount.

We embarked on a photographic journey across Sri Lanka with the OnePlus 13, and our comprehensive review is available for your perusal, including a video review. The company stands by its commitment to delivering four operating system updates and six years of security patches.

The OnePlus 13R is set to release next week, and purchasers will receive a $100 gift card. This model serves as a "lite" version of its flagship counterpart, featuring a Snapdragon 8 Gen 3 instead of the more powerful 8 Elite, as well as a 6,000mAh battery with an 80W wired charge (wireless charging is absent). Remarkably, it comes equipped with a 50MP telephoto camera boasting 2x optical and 4x in-sensor zoom, offering excellent value for money if not the same reach as the primary model's lens.

The Red Magic 10 Pro was also recently introduced to international markets. This gaming phone stands out with its actively-cooled Snapdragon 8 Elite, complete with a built-in fan, and boasts a 6.85" 144Hz OLED display with a unique under-display camera. With a sizable 7,050mAh battery and 80W charging, its design prioritizes gaming performance.

Meanwhile, Lenovo has launched the Legion Go S handheld console, the first of its kind to ship with SteamOS pre-installed, aside from the Steam Deck. Although only the Windows 11 version is currently available, the console leverages an AMD Ryzen Z1 Extreme APU paired with 32GB of RAM and 1TB storage, while more economical options will feature the new Ryzen Z2 Go chip.

Lastly, Nvidia's new GPU lineup was revealed at CES, featuring the GeForce RTX 5070, 5080, and flagship RTX 5090 now available for pre-order at Best Buy. These Founders Edition cards are dual-slot models, while many partner brands have opted for more robust cooling solutions. We eagerly await reviews to see if Nvidia's cooling approach, particularly for the 5090's 575W TDP, suffices.
