

Porsche to Race Laguna Seca in Iconic Apple Livery

Description

At Laguna Seca in California, the Porsche team will show a special design for its race car on May 3rd. This design is inspired by Apple Computer. It celebrates two big events in 2026: 75 years of Porsche Motorsport and 50 years of Apple.

The new car will be a Porsche 963. It has a design based on the Porsche 935 K3, a famous car from the 1980s. The idea is to remember when Apple first worked with Porsche in racing.

Oliver Schusser from Apple said they are happy to work with Porsche again. He noted that their first partnership started in 1980 with a race car that had the Apple logo. Thomas Laudenbach from Porsche said both brands are icons of innovation and development.

The race at Laguna Seca will last two hours and 40 minutes. The Porsche Penske Motorsport team will have two cars, driven by skilled teams. They hope to achieve good results, as they have had success at this track in the past. Other teams will also race Porsche cars in different categories.
