

Redding, Chico and Eureka: Key Updates

Description

It is St. Patrick's Day in Redding, California. This is the first St. Patrick's Day since the new Downtown Redding Entertainment Zone started.

The City Council approved this zone in August 2025. Adults who are 21 and older can now walk around with drinks they bought from some businesses. These drinks can be taken outside in the special area.

Scott Odell, the owner of Market Street Blade and Barrel, expects many people to visit, even on a Tuesday. He said people are enjoying the new zone. However, there are still rules to follow. People need a wristband from a participating business to take drinks outside.

Drinks must also be in a special cup that has a clear mark. Austin Carter, the owner of Pourboys Tapyard, said the zone makes it more fun. People can enjoy drinks and walk around.

People can only drink in the zone until 10 p.m. They cannot take open drinks into other businesses, even within the zone.
