

See New Two-Screw Extrusion Machine at NPE2024 Event

Description

Entek, a company that makes special machines, will show its new equipment at a big show in Orlando, Florida. They will show a new machine with two screws. They will also show a machine for handling materials. They will also show things from a new division in the company. This new division makes parts that get worn out and need replacing.

Entek will show a new computer program for their machines. They will also show two sets of screws and some parts that get worn out. These are things like bigger screws, round tubes, and holders for the tubes.

Entek will also talk about a new machine that makes a lot of products. This machine will start being sold in 2025. They will also talk about another machine that is being made.

They will also show more equipment. One is a sensor that can tell about the flow of air. There is also a machine that makes a lot of products with good quality. They will also show a stuffer machine that is easy to change parts.

Entek will also show a machine that can work with hard materials like powders. This machine can work with different amounts of materials. The filters in the machine are easy to change and last a long time. The show in Orlando will run from May 6 to 10. You can visit Entek at booth W3881.
