

Six Flags Unveils Spring Promotions for Regional Park Access

Description

Six Flags Entertainment Corporation has improved its Gold season passes. This change allows guests to visit more parks. It gives guests more options and value.

In February, Six Flags is running a special offer. Guests can buy a Gold season pass for the price of a Silver pass at some parks. The Gold passes let guests visit many parks with just one pass.

John Reilly, president and CEO of Six Flags, said they are changing what a season pass can be. He wants guests to enjoy more rides and events with one affordable pass.

There are four regional parks included:

In Texas, guests can visit Six Flags Over Texas, and Hurricane Harbor in Arlington.

In the Midwest, Cedar Point and Six Flags Great America are part of the offer.

The West includes Knott's Berry Farm and Six Flags Magic Mountain.

The East features Six Flags Great Adventure and Dorney Park.

Many parks are joining the spring offer to upgrade to Gold passes.
