Ten NCIS Easter Eggs Unearthed in 500th Episode

Description

In the latest episode of "NCIS," the show celebrated its 500th episode on CBS. This important milestone was special because it brought back memories from the last two decades. The writers included many references to previous episodes and characters from the past. One of the main events was the death of Director Vance, who died while trying to save the NCIS team.

Many fans enjoyed seeing connections to old stories. For example, a character named Billy Fuentes returned, who was a child in an earlier episode. This time, he was a grown man whose sister was accused of a crime. There was also a fun moment when Torres found a chance to win a trip to Naktok Bay, where Gibbs escaped to in a previous episode.

Throughout the episode, there were several hints and nods to the past, including the return of the beloved character Ducky. At the end, Vance reunited with his late wife Jackie, which made many viewers emotional. As he left his office for the last time, clocks in the background pointed to the number 11, reminding viewers of one of Gibbs' famous rules: "When the job is done, walk away."
