

Three New Title Matches Announced for AEW Dynasty

Description

AEW has announced the addition of three title matches for the upcoming AEW Dynasty event, taking place on April 12 at Rogers Arena in Vancouver, Canada. This announcement is significant as it intensifies excitement surrounding the pay-per-view event.

The AEW Dynasty card now includes Jack Perry defending his National Championship against Mark Davis during the Dynasty Zero Hour. In another match, the team of Divine Dominion, comprising Lena Kross and Megan Bayne, will defend their AEW Women's Tag Team Titles against Hyan and Maya World. This marks their second championship defence.

The Dynasty Zero Hour will also showcase a match between Marina Shafir and Alex Windsor. The event is set to commence at 7 PM ET, beginning with the Zero Hour prior to the main event.

In a notable development, The Dogs, which includes David Finlay, Gabe Kidd, and Clark Connors, recently captured the AEW World Trios titles from JetSpeed and Mistico on the April 11 edition of Collision. Following this victory, The Conglomeration, pairing Roderick Strong and Orange Cassidy, has challenged The Dogs for the titles. The Conglomeration is poised to feature a surprise partner at Dynasty, leading to speculation about the possible return of Kyle O'Reilly.

The updated match card for AEW Dynasty features several high-stakes encounters: Jon Moxley will defend the AEW Continental Championship against Will Ospreay, and MJF is set to face Kenny Omega for the AEW World Championship.

As excitement builds, fans can anticipate thrilling contests and significant moments that could shape future storylines within AEW.
