

Will Smith's 'Bad Boys 4' has a record-breaking opening at the box office

Description

The highly anticipated film, "Bad Boys: Ride or Die," starring Will Smith and Martin Lawrence, has taken the summer box office by storm. With a domestic opening of $56 million and a global total of $104.6 million, the action-packed movie has exceeded expectations and reignited interest in the long-running franchise.

Directed by Adil El Arbi and Bilall Fallah, the film follows Miami cops Mike Lowrey and Marcus Burnett as they navigate a dangerous underworld of drug cartels to clear their late police captain's name. With an A-CinemaScore and positive reviews, "Ride or Die" has proven to be a hit among audiences, particularly with younger viewers and black moviegoers.

For Will Smith, the film marks a potential career comeback following the infamous Oscars slap incident two years ago. With the success of "Ride or Die," Smith's agents at CAA are already exploring new projects for the actor, hinting at a bright future ahead.

In a weekend dominated by Sony Pictures, "Bad Boys: Ride or Die" stands out as a standout success, surpassing early box office predictions. As audiences flock to theaters to experience the explosive action and chemistry between Smith and Lawrence, it's clear that the Bad Boys franchise is showing no signs of slowing down. Stay tuned for more updates on this exhilarating film phenomenon.
